The Posimuster-General's Report.

The report of Portuguas General Howe for the fleest year ended June 30, 1822, shows total disbursements of the postal service during the year of $40,422,021; ordinary receipts, $41,515,622; receipts from money orders, $300,707; excess of receipts, $4,838. For the first time in thirty-one years the postal service is not a burden upon the Treasures. In order to determine the real cost of the receipts to $10 000 000. Some part of this great inp ment is due to the wonderful growth and perity of the country, but the larger p value of business, while the rate of compen-sation is princeptioned to the amount, of busi-ness done. The expenditure next in rank is for what is toown as the site service. That includes all mail trunsportation not on rails ways nor on steamboats. The amigina and the includes all mail transportation not on rails ways nor on steamboats. The sanginst and the cost of that service is left singst wholly to the urbitrary control of the department. For the year ended June 3b, E81, the star service overed 70.7.35 m lies of transportation, at a cost of 88,57,355; for the year ended June 30, 183, the same service covered 7,52,87 miles, and cost $153,585. The settimetes for 1884 promise cost coccost. The semantics for some intering than those financial results still more liattering than those resilized the first licent year. These estimates are: Ordinary revenues, $50,233,257; from money orders met revenue, $465,257; total estimated revenue, $50,670,467; total estimated revenue, $50,670,467; total expenditures, estimated, $46,741,111; estimated excess tures, estimated, $46,74,111; estimated cof revenue, $1,22,345.

Speaking of clerk-hire, the rupon "Postmasters are enger for array fillows The most importances are apt to be the sorved. They ask the certified on the ing raids is to surrender the maines to Government. The only protection the pu-can have against these multiplied exaction for the Government to assume a exaction trol over the can have against those multiplied exactions is for the Government to assume exclusive control over the transmission of domestic messages by electricity. The telegraph is too terrible a power to be wiedded by other than representatives of the whole people.

In the report of Fir-Taksistant Postmaster-General Hastog it is shown that the est mate for Postmasters is largely in evesse of the sum appropriated or asked for during the current year. The reason assigned is that the sum appropriated is wholly inadequate. The pay of postmasters is limited, not by appropriated is wholly inadequate, and to the extent of their legal compensation the gross revenues of the postal service are not only appropriated but hypothecuted to their payment. Postmasters collect the postal revenues, and they are authorized by law to deduct from the moneys in their hands their legal compensation. They account to the Treusury for the excess only. If not a dollar is appropriated, the Postmasters will receive their salaries all the same. It seems hardly practically, therefore, to effect much in the interest of economy by appropriating $5,00,000 in their hands our of which they may help themselves to the full extent, of their legal dues.

The cheerful pictures painted for ignorant and easily led caudidates for Mormonism by the emissaries of the Utah Saints, appear on close inspection to be far from true to nature. The Sait Lake Tribune says: "Several of the last cargo of Mormons were around the city yesterday in search of employment Instead of plenty of grub and golded paved streets, they find winter and stervation staring them in the face. These poor men have terribly deceived by the Mormon tramps sent out by the church to fabricate colosed
